The aim of the MLIA Technology Transfer Day is to facilitate a two-way communication of research priorities, advances and results between researchers, software developers and users.

The event will begin with the presentation of a set of Best Practice recommendations in MLIA System Development and Search Assistance, Test Collection Creation, Evaluation Methodologies and Language Processing Technologies.

Key speakers from business and application communities will present their experiences, requirements and problems with respect to Multilingual Information Access.

There will also be a demo session plus a panel discussion on the current state of the art, focusing on those areas where the application communities have problems in identifying the best solutions for their particular requirements.
